Cal State Prof Wrote Castration Porn Cited by WPATH

One of the main contributors to the World Professional Association for Transgender Health's (WPATH) "Eunuch Archive" of sadomasochistic fiction sounds like a character in a Thomas Harris novel — perhaps a deranged patient of psychiatrist Hannibal "The Cannibal" Lecter.

A retired professor at California State University, Chico (CSU Chico), Thomas Johnson is a key contributor to pornographic stories about castrating children and turning them into sex slaves.

The latest from Reduxx is one of a series of highly disturbing reports. The website reveals those involved with WPATH and the deranged march to mutilate kids who think they're the "wrong sex."

□ Reduxx has learned that an academic associated with the world's top transgender health authority was directly involved in the creation of erotic fantasies centered around the sexual slavery of children.

The "Eunuch Archive"

Two years ago Reduxx disclosed several academics contributing to the sickening "Eunuch Archive." The archive "hosts nearly 10,000 'erotic' stories of an extreme sadomasochistic nature." As well, the archive features a forum "to provide support and community to men who identify as 'eunuchs,' and seek to be or are already castrated."

But the Reduxx probe revealed something else. WPATH's "Standards of Care 8" includes the fake concept of "eunuch gender identity" that directly refers to the "Eunuch Archive."

"Though members of the deranged forum attempted to remain anonymous, Reduxx was able to unmask some of the top contributors and administrators, learning that at least three of them were academics with direct ties to WPATH," the website continued:

One, Richard J. Wassersug, has for over 20 years used the alias "Eunuchunique" on the forum. Wassersug was an Honorary professor in the Department of Cellular and Physiological Sciences at the University of British Columbia, but has also been affiliated with Dalhousie and La Trobe Universities.

Another, Krister H. Willette, who has been active in the community since 1998, uses the screen name “Kristoff.”

And now Reduxx has unmasked Johnson, a professor emeritus at CSU Chico’s Department of Anthropology. He is “arguably the most well-regarded” of the pervert gang.

His blasphemous nom de plume is “Jesus.” And he participated in “ghostwriting disturbing fantasies about castrating boys under his anonymous screen name.”

Johnson’s Sadomachistic Tale

One “original nightmare by Jesus,” the website reported, “is written in an imaginary future where the law allows any adult to ‘sell himself or herself, or any parent to sell a child over the age of 10.’”

The narrator, a pedophile slave trader, “buys ‘attractive’ children from destitute mothers following the abolishment of government assistance. While employing heavily racist tropes, the narrator purchases the titular character, a 10-year-old Black child, from his impoverished mother.”

The narrator buys black kids from the “projects” from drug-addicted and single mothers.

“Not even halfway into the story, the 10-year-old child is put in chains and iron restraints before being castrated without anesthetic,” the website reported.

Frighteningly, “Johnson also encouraged site members to submit fantasies of castrating children in a dystopian setting wherein eugenics had become enforced by the government.” In Johnson’s evil fantasy, children would be “sterilized” if deemed unfit to reproduce.

But the bogus “eunuch identity” Johnson pushes is too much even for the disturbed individuals involved in WPATH, Reduxx observed:

Newly released internal records show that many WPATH members opposed the inclusion of the “eunuch” chapter in the most recent Standards of Care. The records were presented in the legal dispute Boe v. Marshall, taking place in the District Court of Alabama, which seeks to prohibit the medical “transitioning” of minors.

Heavily redacted emails exchanged between WPATH members and an anonymized individual who claims to be the Eunuch chapter lead — a title held by Johnson — show many questioning the logic behind it. ...

[An] individual whose name has been redacted wrote in detail about “very serious misgivings” regarding the Eunuch recommendations, stating bluntly that the definition of a eunuch is “a man who has been castrated.”

The writer continues: “There is the creation of a new term, ‘male-to-eunuch gender dysphoria’, which does not exist in any diagnostic health classification system... The majority of published reference works in this Chapter stems from one single person, who — as far as I am aware of, is not a HP [health practitioner].”

“I have been working full-time as a trans health specialist... since 2007. Our Centre has approximately 3000 current patients and we receive in excess of [one] thousand new referrals per annum. I have NEVER met a patient who identified as Eunuch and consequently, I am extremely skeptical about the veracity of this Chapter.”

Pushing Fake Science on College Kids

As Reduxx observed, Johnson has been pushing fake science on college kids for years.

In 2014, at CSU Chico's Anthropology Forum, Johnson delivered "Behind the Binary: Gender Dysphoria & Gender Identity."

On the webpage for his talk, Johnson says he "has surveyed over 3,000 eunuchs — with eunuch defined as a biological male whose testicles have been removed or destroyed."

Yet Johnson "also discusses the presence of eunuchs throughout history. Some were castrated to become castrati – opera singers who could reach unusually high notes, with a different tone quality from female-born sopranos. He also notes that, centuries ago, court eunuchs were common in China, Vietnam, Assyria, Turkey, and other countries."

But the castrati weren't just "opera singers." They were 8- to 10-year old boys whom adults mutilated so the boys would never have a masculine voice. Their lack of testosterone led to skeletal problems.

The Reduxx report about Johnson's deviant obsessions followed its detailed look at "Admiral Rachel" Levine. He pushed WPATH to drop age restrictions for "gender-affirming" care for minors.

"Gender-affirming" is "transgender" for poisoning kids with hormones of the opposite sex, then removing their reproductive organs and fashioning fakes.

The stories in the eunuch archive might explain why Levine and his gang are so obsessed with little kids.
