

Dr. Malone: Pandemic Is Wrapping Up

Dr. Robert Malone, an original inventor of the key technologies behind the mRNA vaccines, took a stand against the profoundly corrupt U.S. health agencies and the global forces behind the failed pandemic response in a Tuesday interview on Tucker Carlson Today.

COVID Vaccines “Clearly Not Working”

While it may be considered “misinformation” something the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) now views as an offense akin to terrorism — to say that the COVID vaccines are not working as advertised, it is, nonetheless, a scientific fact, said the doctor.

“These vaccines are clearly not working. They don’t protect against infection and replication in viral spread,” said Malone. He further noted that the official narrative defines “vaccine efficacy” by its potential to prevent severe disease and death. But that, the doctor explained, is a definition of a medicine, or a prophylaxis. Traditional vaccines make one’s body produce an immune response that guards off infection and blocks its replication, which, in turn, means that one (generally) cannot get infected and cannot pass the virus to other people.

That, however, is not the case with COVID “vaccines.” Their poor efficacy was demonstrated by the great number of breakthrough infections with the Delta, and especially Omicron, variants. While President Joe Biden’s chief medical advisor and COVID czar Dr. Anthony Fauci claimed that if 70 percent of the population took the vaccine, the virus would go away, Malone said this is simply not the case.

“Even if [the whole American population] took the vaccine, we would not reach herd immunity,” Malone told Carlson, adding that the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) had made that same projection even before the Delta variant hit.

How Effective COVID Treatments Were Suppressed

While the vaccines were proven to do little to nothing to stop infection and transmission, practicing physicians and scientists have found highly effective and widely available repurposed drugs that could cure COVID when taken early. That knowledge was available early on, at the very onset of the pandemic, Dr. Malone said.

But the very existence of those treatments, Malone explained, was a threat to the vaccine manufacturers. According to the statutes of the Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) for the vaccines, “If there is an available agent which can provide protection against the threat ... and mitigate it,” then the vaccines could not be granted the EUA.

“The government is lawless, they have gone off the reservation, they went off the rails, they don’t care, they are not accountable,” lamented Dr. Malone.

Such repurposed drugs with outstanding safety profiles as hydroxychloroquine, ivermectin, and fluvoxamine have all been rejected for use in COVID patients.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) official to whom Dr. Malone spoke in regard to the motive behind the suppression of early treatments claimed that the agency “did not interpret the EUA that way.” The FDA official said that the rejection of the aforementioned drugs had nothing to do with the vaccines, and pointed to the officially approved COVID early treatment called remdesivir (see here and here).

COVID Vaccine Dangers

Dr. Malone described how shocked he was to learn about the data on significantly increased illness and disease in American soldiers that was likely associated with the COVID vaccines. That information became known thanks to brave Department of Defense whistleblowers Doctors Samuel Sigoloff, Peter Chambers, and Theresa Long, represented by attorney Thomas Renz. Renz presented this bombshell information during a panel discussion titled “Covid-19: A Second Opinion” in Washington, D.C., on January 24, 2022, that was hosted by Senator Ron Johnson (R-Wis.).

When asked if there is a scientific possibility of the vaccines increasing the risks of developing cancers, Dr. Malone unequivocally replied, “Yes.”

Referring to the study posted in the prestigious peer-reviewed medical journal Cell, the doctor explained in somewhat technical language that synthetic RNAs don’t have the normal chemical composition of a natural RNA. Those engineered RNAs, however, were tested in humans for only 60 days, the doctor said. They were expected to “integrate” with human RNA in cells, yet they did not. They stick around, Malone said, for at least 60 days. They remained in the lymph nodes, for example. At the same time, those RNAs produce a much higher level of a cytotoxic spike protein than the natural infection with COVID would.

“In natural infection, it is hitting your mucosal surface, and the viruses grow slowly,” Malone said, “With the vaccine, you’re getting a surge of this [spike] protein. It is hitting your body, and it’s coming into your whole circulation.” That fact explains the high number of adverse reactions to the shots. And that number is expected to grow in the vaccinated population, the doctor implied.

As it became clear from the Pfizer documents that became available from the Japanese government and then obtained by Canadian immunologist and vaccine researcher Byram Bridle, Ph.D, associate professor of viral immunology at the University of Guelph, “Pfizer and the U.S. regulatory agencies have not done their job” and neglected to test the vaccines by the regular methods.

Censorship and Joe Rogan: Don’t Bend the Knee

Dr. Malone commented on podcast host Joe Rogan’s recent interactions with the media and apologies he has made in regard to “spreading medical misinformation” by hosting Malone. Rogan has faced additional criticism over a video compilation of the podcaster saying the “N-word” over the course of 12 years, posted by Mistouch, a left-wing super PAC.

Rogan, Manole said, represented a real threat to the establishment media and the forces behind it. “I think he [Rogan] genuinely represents a center-left blue-collar frame of reference. And they have just really damaged that cohort, those that are on the left. They basically just alienated a whole faction. Just having already pissed off the moms and the African Americans with all of these [COVID] policies. And a lot of the youth that have been subjected to mandated vaccines. Now they've alienated blue-collar-centered people and unaligned people, which is really what Rogan represents, particularly younger ones."

"I think as I look back at what has happened, I think he's been a little naive," Malone added. "Joe bent the knee. He thought that he could concede and they would leave him alone if he basically apologized. And that is not how this game is played. This is full-on media war. You do not — you don't get a break by saying, 'I am sorry.'"

The Global Agenda of the WEF

Dr. Malone said that to try and comprehend the course of the pandemic response, one should look into the global agenda of the World Economic Forum (WEF) headed by Klaus Schwab. Through its "The Forum of Young Global Leaders," that organization has infiltrated practically all Western governments.

From Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau to California Governor Gavin Newsom, to New Zealand Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern, "All of these folks have been trained to regurgitate all of these policy positions [of the WEF], regardless of the context in which they operate," Malone said. The uncritical implementation of the WEF agenda such as uniform COVID or "global warning" approaches makes those policies extremely ineffective. In times of crisis such as a pandemic, all of the WEF-nurtured "leaders" turn to authoritarian methods, just as they have been trained to do.

At the same time, the official COVID narrative is crumbling, and the people are waking up and starting to realize that they have been fooled. As a result, they start pushing back against those wannabe dictators. Here in America, Malone said, he anticipated pro-freedom forces winning in the midterm elections and "getting to the bottom of this [pandemic]."
