Enter the Dragon: Emails Show Hunter Biden Business Pals Fixed Meeting for Chinese Communists With Veep

Newly published emails show that Hunter Biden's business buddies helped set up members of the "China Entrepreneur Club," also known as "China, Inc.," with a tour of the White House in November 2011.

But Peter Schweizer and Seamus Bruner revealed something even more disturbing in their report about the emails at Breitbart on Friday. Hunter Biden's insiders also arranged a meeting with his father, then Vice President Joe Biden.

Meanwhile, another email related to the Biden-Burisma influence-peddling scandal shows that Vadym Pozharskyi, an adviser to Burisma Holdings, asked the vice president's son, a Burisma board member, for help in ending a prosecutor's probe of the energy company.

Burisma, of course, is at the center of the scandal involving Joe Biden, who forced Ukraine to fire the prosecutor investigating the company.

Enter the Dragon

The China Entrepreneur Club went to Hunter Biden and his pals, Schweizer and Bruner reported, because it did not receive a favorable answer from direct overtures to the Obama administration.

All the "entrepreneurs" needed was help from someone plugged in to Biden senior.

The Biden-China influence peddling emails, unrelated to those published in the New York Post, came from convicted fraudster Bevan Cooney, a former associate of Hunter Biden who gave Schweizer access to his Gmail account.

Reported Schweizer and Bruner:

In 2019, Cooney reached out to Schweizer after becoming familiar with the revelations in his 2018 book Secret Empires. Cooney explained that he believes he was the "fall guy" for the fraud scheme and that [Biden partner Devon] Archer and Hunter Biden had avoided responsibility.

But more importantly, "the emails offer a unique window into just how the Biden universe conducted business during the Obama-Biden Administration. These associates sought to trade on Hunter Biden's relationship with, and access to, his father and the Obama-Biden White House in order to generate business."

The China Entrepreneur Club is not, as its name suggests, a group of wealthy, enterprising businessmen merely trying to make a quick buck on gullible Americans, Schweizer and Bruner reported. It's really China's "second foreign ministry." The membership includes top Chinese Reds.

As China Entrepreneur Club cutout Mohamed Khashoggi wrote to Hunter Biden associate Gary Fears, "the group is highly influential and includes the most important private sector individuals in China today."

Providing the favor to "China Inc" will be profitable down the road, Khashoggi wrote.

I know it is political season and people are hesitant but a group like this does not come along everyday. A tour of the white house and a meeting with a member of the chief of staff's office and John Kerry would be great. I will let you think about it. If we can set up meetings even with Rominy or non elected officials might be easier. (Not sure if one has to be registered to to this). ... I would be with them all the time and we would have good access to them for any deal in the future.

That deal, apparently, involved a lucrative potash mine in China.

Khashoggi even explained exactly what he wanted:

Biggest priority for the CEC group is to see the White House, and have a senior US politician, or senior member of Obama's administration, give them a tour. If that can happen from 9:30am-10:30am on Nov 14th, there will be time for the group to see one-two other top US officials from 10:30am-12pm.

Wrote Fears to Archer, "this is perfect for u to attend and get guys for the potash deal."

While Schweizer and Bruner don't say which "senior member of Obama's administration" gave the White House tour, Archer assured Fears that the meeting would take place. "Couldn't confirm this with Hunter on the line but we got him his meeting at the WH Monday for the Chinese folks," he wrote.

The day the Chinese went to the White House, Cooney told Fears that Archer "got the Chinese guys all taken care of in DC."

White House visitor logs, Schweizer and Bruner reported, recorded the visit:

The Obama-Biden Administration archives reveal that this Chinese delegation did indeed visit the White House on November 14, 2011, and enjoyed high-level access. The delegation included approximately thirty members, according to White House visitor logs. But those records also obscure perhaps the most important item for the Chinese delegation: a meeting with Vice President Joe Biden himself....

Curiously, the Obama-Biden visitor logs do not mention any meeting with Vice President Joe Biden. But the Vice President's off-the-books meeting was revealed by one of the core founders of the CEC. In an obscure document listing the CEC members' biographies, CEC Secretary General Maggie Cheng alleges that she facilitated the CEC delegation meetings in Washington in 2011 and boasts of the Washington establishment figures that CEC met with. The first name she dropped was that of Vice President Joe Biden.

The relationships established during that visit may have benefited Hunter Biden and Devon Archer down the road. Two years later, they famously helped to form the Chinese government funded Bohai Harvest RST (BHR) investment fund.

Maggie Cheng | 程虹
Secretary-General, China Entrepreneur Club

Maggie Cheng has been General Manager and Secretary-General of the China Entrepreneur Club (CEC) since its establishment. She is also President of Daonong Centre for Enterprise, and Executive Publisher of Green Companies magazine.

Cheng has 15-years of experience in the media industry, serving as a journalist, editor, hostess, producer and other managerial posts. In 2006, Cheng was a core founder of the CEC and has been General Manager and Secretary-General ever since. As an NGO, the CEC has developed into the most influential and representative organization for business leaders in China in the past seven years.

Cheng has been actively devoted to promoting the internationalization of Chinese private businesses and populating the spirit of entrepreneurship in China. She initiated the annual International Visits of the China Entrepreneur Club, which have become one of the CEC's most important projects, with successful business missions to the United States (2011), the UK (2012) and France/Belgium (2013). The delegation was received with the highest respect and greatest hospitality by the host countries, marked by meetings held with international political leaders such as U.S. Vice President Joe Biden, Under Secretary Robert Hormats, former State Secretary Madeleine Albright and General Colin Powell, British Prime Minister David Cameron, French President Francois Hollande, United Nations Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon, and President of the European Commission José Manuel Barroso. The Annual Summit of Green Companies, a general non-profit initiative founded by Cheng has become one of the most well-known economic forums in China for international business leaders to explore sustainable development and business integrity. The Summit has been successfully held for six years, attracting more than one thousand participants from all around the globe each year.

Cheng majored in Journalism and Communications in college and received her EMBA degree from the China Europe International Business School (CEIBS).

Another top D.C. mentioned in Khashoggi's email is, is Juleanna Glover, a top lobbyist and former press secretary for Vice President Dick Cheney.

More On Ukraine

China isn't the only beneficiary of Hunter Biden's many talents, of course.

The globe trotter is experience hand in Ukraine, too.

An email published at the Media Action Network offered more evidence that Hunter Biden and his father were indeed enmeshed in a major influence-peddling scheme there.

As The New York Post reported early this week, Pozharskyi thanked Hunter Biden for arranging a meeting with his father. That proved the Democrat presidential candidate lied when he claimed he didn't discuss with his son the latter's work with Burisma.

But on November 2, 2015, Pozharskyi explained what he expected from pal Hunter, a Burisma board member despite major drug problems. Pozharskyi wanted help killing the corruption probe into Burisma, the email shows:

I would like us to formulate a list of deliverables, including, but not limited to: a concrete course of actions, incl. meetings/communications resulting in high-ranking US officials in Ukraine (US Ambassador) and in US publicly or in private communication/comment expressing their "positive opinion" and support of Nikolay/Burisma to the highest level of decision makers here in Ukraine :President of Ukraine, president Chief of staff, Prosecutor General, etc The scope of work should also include organization of a visit of a number of widely recognized and influential current and/or former US policy-makers to Ukraine in November aiming to conduct meetings with and bring positive signal/message and support on Nikolay's issue to the Ukrainian top officials above with the ultimate purpose to close down for any cases/pursuits against Nikolay in Ukraine.

Nikolay refers to Bursima founder Nikolay Zlochevsky, the target of Ukrainian Prosecutor General Viktor Shokin.

Dear colleagues,

Hope, you are well. Thank you for the docs provided. I have analyzed them most carefully and came up with the following observations: the first thing is that the suggested scope of work is largely lacking concrete tangible results that we set out to achieve in the first place, mostly focusing on the process. Also, it doesn't offer any names of top US officials here in Ukraine (for instance, US Ambassador) or Ukrainian officials (the President of Ukraine, chief of staff, Prosecutor General) as key targets for improving Nikolay's case and his situation in Ukraine.

If, however, this is done deliberately to be on the safe and cautious side, I can understand the rationale. And if all parties in fact understand the true purpose of the BS engagement and all our joint efforts, it's ok and we should proceed immediately.

My only concern is for us to be on the same page re our final goals. With this in mind, I would like us to formulate a list of deliverables, including, but not limited to: a concrete course of actions, incl. meetings/communications resulting in high-ranking US officials in Ukraine (US Ambassador) and in US publicly or in private communication/comment expressing their "positive opinion" and support of Nikolay/Burisma to the highest level of decision makers here in Ukraine :President of Ukraine, president Chief of staff, Prosecutor General, etc

The scope of work should also include organization of a visit of a number of widely recognized and influential current and/or former US policy-makers to Ukraine in November aiming to conduct meetings with and bring positive signal/message and support on Nikolay's issue to the Ukrainian top officials above with the ultimate purpose to close down for any cases/pursuits against Nikolay in Ukraine.

Looking forward to your feedback!
Vadym

Administration's point man on Ukraine, ordered Ukraine President Petro Poroshenko to fire Shokin or lose $1 billion in U.S. loan guarantees.

Recalled Biden:

I said, "You're not getting the billion." I'm going to be leaving here in, I think it was about six hours. I looked at them and said: "I'm leaving in six hours. If the prosecutor is not fired, you're not getting the money."

Well, son of a bh, he got fired.
