Obama Repeats “Very Fine People” Lie About Trump; Biden Wants to “Smack” Trump and GOPers

With Former President Donald Trump ahead of Vice President Kamala Harris in the RealClearPolitics average of national polls, and in five of seven swing-state polls, top Democrats are increasingly terrified that Harris will lose tomorrow’s presidential election.

They are not only lying about Trump, but also, it seems, threatening him and fellow Republicans with violence, perhaps hoping to inspire a last-minute assassination attempt.

Appearing in front of Jewish and Muslim voters, former President Barack Hussein Obama retold the lie that Trump called neo-Nazis and white supremacists “very fine people.” And of course, The New York Times did not correct Obama’s lie in its story about the appearance.

And Trump and Republicans need a “smack in the a,” President Joe Biden said with a crazed look on his face.

Obama’s Big Lie

Obama told not only the lie about “very fine people,” but also another that suggested Trump banned Muslims from entering the country. He also implied that Trump is a Holocaust denier.

“To Muslims and Jews angry about the war in Gaza,” as the Times described Obama’s remarks:

Would you place your faith in someone who instituted a so-called Muslim ban, or sat down with Holocaust deniers, or said that there were “very fine people on both sides” of a white supremacist rally?

Trump did not ban all Muslims from entering the nation after he became president. Though Trump spoke of a “total and complete shutdown” of Muslim immigration, as the far-left FactCheck.org noted, his order applied only to nations that sponsor terror.

The Times did not clarify that important distinction.

But more importantly, it left Obama’s “very fine people” lie untouched. Apparently, the Times reporter believes it.

As The New American reported in June, far-left fact-checker Snopes.com finally debunked the lie about remarks Trump made after the Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, on August 15, 2017.

Yes, Trump uttered “very fine people on both sides.” But he also specifically and repeatedly condemned neo-Nazis and white supremacists.

The full transcript of the remarks, including a reporter’s question, proves that Obama is lying. Here’s the conversation per Snopes:

Reporter: Mr. President, are you putting what you’re calling the alt-left and white supremacists on the same moral plane?

Trump: I am not putting anybody on a moral plane, what I’m saying is this: You had a group on one side and a group on the other, and they came at each other with clubs and it was vicious and horrible and it was a horrible thing to watch, but there is another side. There was a group on this side, you can call them the left. You’ve just called them the left, that came violently attacking the other group. So you can say what you want, but that’s the way it is.

Reporter: You said there was hatred and violence on both sides?

Trump: I do think there is blame — yes, I think there is blame on both sides. You look at, you look at both sides. I think there’s blame on both sides, and I have no doubt about it. ...

Reporter: The neo-Nazis started this thing. They showed up in Charlottesville.

Trump: Excuse me, they didn’t put themselves down as neo-Nazis, and you had some very bad people in that group. But you also had people that were very fine people, on both sides. You had people in that group — excuse me, excuse me, I saw the same pictures as you did — you had people in that group that were there to protest the taking down of, to them, a very very important statue and the renaming of a park from Robert E. Lee to another name. ... I’m not talking about the neo-Nazis and the white nationalists, because they should be condemned totally. But you had many people in that group other than neo-Nazis and white nationalists, okay? And the press has treated them absolutely unfairly. Now, in the other group also, you had some fine people, but you also had troublemakers, and you see them come with the black outfits, and with the helmets, and the baseball bats, you got a lot of bad people in the other group too.

Trump posted similar sentiments on X and addressed the matter on his golf course in New Jersey.

Leftists erupted in fury on social media because Snopes told the truth.

Biden’s Crazy Comments

Speaking to a gathering of union carpenters in Scranton, Pennsylvania, Biden went off the rails to say he wanted to smack Trump and Republicans.

More than one headline suggested that Biden was discussing only “macho guys.”

That is false. He named Trump and Republicans.

“There’s one more thing Trump and his Republican friends want to do. They want another giant tax cut for the wealthy,” Biden angrily said:

Now, I know some of you guys are tempted to think it's macho guys.

I tell you what, man. When I was in Scranton, we used to have a little trouble going down the block once in a while. ... But I'm serious, these are the kind of guys you'd like to smack in the ass.

Biden grinned demonically. Biden's impulsive, intemperate remarks are a sign of dementia.

But the latest is of a piece with the increasingly hateful, violent tone from Biden and Harris. Last week, Biden called Trump supporters "garbage," and the week before, ignoring the two assassination attempts against Trump, Harris called him a "fascist" and likened him to German leader Adolf Hitler.
