Netanyahu and Security Cabinet Approve Lebanon Ceasefire

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu accepted a U.S. ceasefire proposal in Lebanon, with Israel's Security Cabinet approving the deal in a 10-1 vote. In the speech earlier today, Netanyahu announced the ceasefire agreement, and stated the length of the ceasefire is dependent on Lebanon's actions:

Therefore, this evening I will bring a ceasefire outline for the cabinet's approval. The length of the ceasefire depends on what happens in Lebanon. With the United States' full understanding, we maintain full freedom of military action.

Israeli Minister of National Security Itamar Ben-Gvir stated the ceasefire agreement is a mistake, and will not deter Hezbollah, posting on X:

The cabinet's decision tonight is a serious mistake. A ceasefire at this stage will not return the residents of the north to their homes, will not deter Hezbollah and in fact will miss a historic opportunity to strike them hard and bring them to their knees.
