

Written by Staff on May 6, 2022

Published in the May 30, 2022 issue of the New American magazine. Vol. 38, No. 10

Letter to the Editor

Helping the “Stupid”

I remember whenever I acted stupid, life became harder. It can be a difficult process only cured by an aware maturity.

Realizing that, I understand that those who believe this government is doing a good job are just stupid. After all, we are all born stupid, but there is a silver lining: Stupid is curable by life's experiences for most, so all we have to do is cure those stupid people so they become aware of their environment, at which point they would have joined the majority. I always had a positive outlook on life, and every instinct I have tells me the majority is growing each day.

We can't help the ignorant, but we do have a responsibility to help the stupid. I don't mean this as an insult, but we are forced to deal with facts. That's why we must communicate with people. To help our Republic, we need to help them. I know it's difficult communicating with stupid people, but be nice, be patient — we need them to communicate.

We don't insult them; we need to speak with them. Asking questions is a safe way to communicate. Why is it that America is no longer energy independent? We know it's because government restricted our production, but what do they know? Why have we allowed more than two million people to cross our border and live in our country, and we don't know who they are, good or bad? The safe answer is our government has opened our border without processing them and has little information on people allowed in. Maybe it's too soon to talk about the possibility of them becoming Democratic voters.

Why do you think America has so much crime? We know it's because of the defund the police movement and radical leftist prosecutors, mayors, and governors. We also know it's not like that in red states, but what do they know?

When I say we need to communicate with people, it's not just “a saying,” it's a “critical fact.” People ask me, what can we do? The answer is always the same: communicate. The only way we preserve our way of life is to communicate about it. We have our constitutional protections, for the most part, and our Founders told us that God gave us our rights and they left us the avenues to preserve our way of life. All we need is for Americans to be aware of their environment. When that happens, the American spirit rises with the voice of the majority. So, let's do our duty as American patriots: Go and save a stupid person.

Strangely, most Americans didn't support the American Revolution, so you could say America was created by the minority that grew to the majority, who are now a part of the second American Revolution and who will not underestimate the elitist minority, and who will do what is necessary to preserve our way of life. Take care patriots.

Frank D. Lovell

Sent via email

A Man for All Seasons

Hal Shurtleff, of Alton, New Hampshire, is a man for all seasons, a man for all reasons.

The victory handed him by the recent unanimous decision of the Supreme Court in his suit against the city of Boston and its decision to deny him and others the right to fly their Christian banner was long overdue. The seasons came and went, rulings came against him. He persisted, the suit moved through the lower federal courts, and finally stood at the top, and he won.

Written by Staff on May 6, 2022

Published in the May 30, 2022 issue of the New American magazine. Vol. 38, No. 10

So Hal is an example to all. This son of God went forth to war a kingly crown to gain.

Eugene M. Long, Jr., M.D.

Sent via email

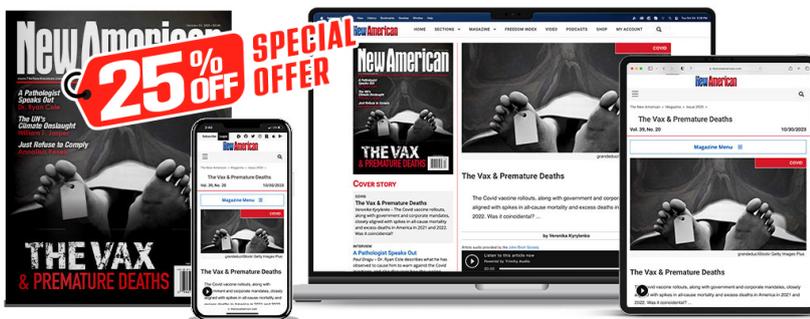

Subscribe to the New American

Get exclusive digital access to the most informative, non-partisan truthful news source for patriotic Americans!

Discover a refreshing blend of time-honored values, principles and insightful perspectives within the pages of "The New American" magazine. Delve into a world where tradition is the foundation, and exploration knows no bounds.

From politics and finance to foreign affairs, environment, culture, and technology, we bring you an unparalleled array of topics that matter most.

Subscribe

What's Included?

- 24 Issues Per Year
- Optional Print Edition
- Digital Edition Access
- Exclusive Subscriber Content
- Audio provided for all articles
- Unlimited access to past issues
- Coming Soon! Ad FREE
- 60-Day money back guarantee!
- Cancel anytime.