Another Day, Another “Trans Woman” Arrested on Child Porn Charges

Yet another “transgender woman” has been arrested for possessing child porn.

This time, the suspect is one Krystel Lauzon, 39, of Quebec, Canada, and it’s his second arrest for the crime, Reduxx reported.

Cops collared Lauzon, whose social media contains the grooming material typical of his kind, in January.

In the United States in July, a former New Hampshire legislator who claimed to be a “transgender woman” was arrested for similar crimes.

In England, meanwhile, Reduxx reported, a “transgender woman” who confessed to stealing his sister’s underwear has landed on a United Nations Panel.

CANADA: A transgender pedophile who advocated for childhood transitioning has been arrested for the second time for the possession of child sexual abuse material.

“Sissy Porn”

Reduxx revealed that cops in the village of Val-David, part of the force’s Internet Sexual Exploitation of Children Investigation Team, “conducted a search of [Lauzon’s] residence and his computer was seized for forensic analysis.”

Details on this second arrest are “limited,” Reduxx reported.

But details about his first conviction on child porn charges aren’t.

“In 2020, Lauzon was arrested for the possession of child abuse materials but, due to COVID-19, there was a cessation in proceedings until 2022,” the website reported:

He was then sentenced to four years in prison after pleading guilty to charges of production, distribution, and possession of child pornography. But Lauzon appears to have been released sometime before November of 2023 with conditions he quickly was found to have violated.

In the reporting of his most recent arrest, Lauzon was referred to as a “woman” by most French-language news outlets, including L’Info Du Nord and CIME Laurentides.

The French-language newspapers also reported that cops found more than 100 methamphetamine tablets and 50 packs of “contraband cigarettes.”

As with so many “trans women,” not least the recently fired spokesman for Doritos, Lauzon’s social media is full of vile content.

Looking at his Facebook page, Reduux discovered that he is obsessed with “sissification, or sissy porn, which depicts men or boys being ‘transitioned’ into young women or underage girls.”

“Deranged” and “demented” hardly describe what Reduux uncovered:

In one of the more common forms of the pornography genre, referred to as sissy captions, images typically depicting women in fetish gear or alternatively childish lace dresses are accompanied by written text suggesting that the women are biologically male. The images are seemingly designed to be disseminated widely, dodging censorship on platforms such as Facebook by avoiding the explicit use of pornography.

“You do realize that an addiction to sissy porn ends with you living as a woman, right?” reads one sissy caption shared by Lauzon in 2020. Lauzon captioned the image: “Already had it in me, but yeah, this is really what happened, lol.”

Lauzon also frequently shared images to his Facebook account depicting young women and what appear to be teenage girls in sexual poses. He also has made several posts about medically feminizing young boys.

In 2021, Reduux reported, Lauzon supported the “transitioning” of a boy who claimed, “I HAVE A PENIS AND I AM A GIRL.”

“Disturbingly, Lauzon’s SoundCloud profile reveals that he had ‘liked’ an audio track of a child crying out in pain,” Reduux reported.

Reduux routinely exposes “trans” insanity and the sex crimes for which “transgender women” are regularly sentenced to jail or prison.

But again, Lauzon is only the most recent arrest of a “transgender woman” for sex crimes against children.

In July, The New American reported, police in Nashua, New Hampshire, arrested state legislator “Stacie-Marie” Loughton, a man, on child porn and exploitation charges for passing on images of children at a day-care center and plans to rape them.

Loughton, a boon political companion of top Democrats, was charged with federal crimes.

“Transgenderers” Rise to Power in England

The website also tracks the rise of “transgender women” in positions of political or cultural power once reserved for women.

The latest on that front is the selection of Martin Neeves, who calls himself “Katie,” as the delegate from UN Women UK to work with the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women, “despite his troubling history of publicly discussing his enjoyment at stealing his sister’s underwear in his youth,” Reduxx reported.

UN Women has selected a trans-identified male as a UK delegate set to work with the United Nations Commission on the status of Women.

Like most “transgenderers,” Neeves is a fetishist, as video of his confession to stealing his sister’s underwear showed.

Reported Reduxx:

[He] can be heard describing how, as a youth, he would steal his sister’s “knickers” and try them on. ...

“My earliest memories were of my mum catching me trying on a pair of my sister’s knickers. I remember when I did it, it felt so right. But then my mum came in, and she caught me and told me off,” says Neeves in one of the clips.

“In my childhood, I used to secretly dress in my sister’s clothes whenever I had the opportunity. And whenever I did it, it felt so right. But then those feelings of being right were very quickly overtaken by feelings of guilt, shame, and self-loathing. Because what I was doing was wrong, it was dirty, it was naughty, and not what respectable people did,” he continued.

Neeves admitted the sexual fetish ended in his declaration that he is “transgender.”

Amusingly, Reduxx reported, Neeves calls himself a lesbian, and admits that his fetish ended his marriage. When he and his wife were watching a television show about a cross-dressing husband, his wife jokingly asked, “You’d never do that to me would you?” Replied Neeves: “Well actually, I do.” Not surprisingly, the marriage ended.

Neeves isn’t the only man-lady taking spots reserved for real women. Before Neeves, UN Women UK picked another man, Munroe Bergdorf, who also masquerades as a woman, as a delegate.

But he, too, was a worrisome choice, Reduxx continued. A children’s charity booted him because he invited kids to message him, and that controversy led to revelations that he sat for a “professional photographer’s portrait series on ‘sex workers.’ His portrait depicted him in the nude, and revealed that he had intact male genitals.”
