

Chris Cuomo: Maybe if Cops Murder a Few White Kids, Bad Policing Will Stop

CNN talker Chris Cuomo says cops should murder white kids to inspire whites to stop police from shooting minorities who resist arrest.

That, he said, is the only solution to reform what he thinks is bad policing. Cops, he said, won't stop shooting minority kids until white parents bury a few of their own.

Well-known for his own violent temper, Cuomo delivered the advice in an unhinged, sarcastic rant that suggested police shoot to kill minority kids for no good reason.

Crazy Rant

Cuomo, the younger brother of disgraced New York Governor Andrew Cuomo, unbosomed himself of the deranged editorial on Saturday after two more police shootings last week.

Stopped for an expired license, Daunte Wright had an outstanding warrant for armed assault. The officer charged in his death did not intend to shoot with him her service weapon, but instead meant to tase him.

A police officer shot Adam Toledo to death after a chase, during which Toledo discarded a gun unbeknownst to the officer. He, too, resisted arrest.

Wright is black, Toledo Hispanic.

For Cuomo, who has threatened violence against more than one person for not showing him the deference he thinks he deserves, none of that matters.

Whites won't stop what Cuomo thinks is bad policing, he said, because "you want to make the problem "Them,"" which "takes the onus off the idea that you're wrong about policing not needing to change."

Cuomo, who has never faced a gun-wielding criminal in a dark alley, said "police are trained to deal with non-compliance, with force that is not lethal." He apparently believes that cops immediately escalate to deadly violence for no reason.

Thus did he call for the murder of white kids.

"And you know what the answer is," he opined:

You really do. You don't like it. I don't like it. It scares me. Shootings, gun laws, access to weapons? Oh, I know when they'll change. Your kids start getting killed. White people's kids, start getting killed. Smoking that doobie that's actually legal, probably in your state now, but they don't know what it was, and then the kid runs, and then "Pop! Pop! Pop! Pop!" Cop was justified.

“Why’d you run?” “Oh, he had a baseball game tonight.” “Oh? White kid? Oh, big family, that house over there?” Those start piling up, “What is going on with these police? Oh, what? Maybe we shouldn’t even have police!” That kind of mania, that kind of madness, that’ll be you. That’ll be the majority, because it’s your people.

See, now Black people start getting all guns, forming militias, protect themselves? “Can’t trust Deep State!” Whoo-whooh! You’ll see a wave of change, in access and accountability. We saw it in the 60s. That’s when it changes, because that’s when it’s you.

Neither Daunte Wright nor Adam Toledo ran from police to get to a baseball game. Nor were they smoking “doobies.” And if they had, shooting them for those reasons would be murder. But those small facts aside, the rest of his soliloquy was a mishmash of leftist platitudes — with a few notes about his leftist father to lend what he said an air of authority.

CNN, of course, will do nothing about Cuomo’s latest rant, just as it did nothing when he threatened to beat a man to a pulp for calling him Fredo, and just as it did nothing when he had the China Virus, broke quarantine, and threatened a cyclist who called him on it.

Nor will Cuomo be held responsible if a Black Lives Matter mob, inspired by his suggestion, murders a white kid.

Waters, Tlaib Even Crazier Than Fredo

Cuomo’s remarks are nearly as irresponsible as those from leftist Representatives Maxine Waters of California and Rashida Tlaib of Michigan, except that Cuomo is not an elected official.

Waters, the California leftist, traveled to Brooklyn Center, Minnesota, to incite violence over the Wright shooting and pollute the jury in the trial of Derek Chauvin.

“We’ve got to stay in the streets,” Waters said on Saturday. “We’re looking for a guilty verdict. We’re looking for a guilty verdict.... I hope that we’re going to get a verdict [that says] guilty, guilty, guilty, and if we don’t, we cannot go away.”

Should Chauvin be convicted of manslaughter? someone asked.

Replied Waters:

Oh no, not manslaughter, no. no. no. This is, this is guilty, for murder. I don’t know if it’s in the first degree, but as far as I’m concerned it’s first-degree murder.

And if the verdict doesn’t come back the way Waters decreed, someone asked, what then?

“We’ve got to get more confrontational,” the deranged congresswoman said.

That call for violence wasn’t Waters’ first. She also urged her followers to harass and attack Trump officials and supporters.

Last week, Tlaib falsely claimed the cop who shot Wright did so purposely.

“It wasn’t an accident,” the Palestinian fumed:

Policing in our country is inherently & intentionally racist.

Daunte Wright was met with aggression & violence. I am done with those who condone government funded murder.

No more policing, incarceration, and militarization. It can't be reformed.
