Dr. Geert Vanden Bossche: Covid Mass Vaccination Triggering New Pandemics and Epidemics

In his first interview with The New American, renowned scientist Dr. Geert Vanden Bossche described why mass vaccination with non-sterilizing (“leaky”) vaccines could not lead to herd immunity, and why he expected the Covid infection and disease to aggravate in the vaccinated individuals.

The New American is proud to become the first media to speak with Dr. Vanden Bossche about his latest research dedicated to the issue of Covid mass vaccination initiating a chain reaction of new pandemics and epidemics with a potentially catastrophic impact on global health. In addition to discussing that, the doctor explains how constant Covid re-infections trigger relapse or metastasis of certain cancers in vaccinees.

If antiviral treatments are not made massively available to the vaccinated people, the highly vaccinated countries will likely experience a tsunami of hospitalizations and deaths among the vaccinees, especially the elderly and those vaccinated early on, says Dr. Vanden Bossche.

The doctor pleads with parents to NOT vaccinate their children against Covid, as the vaccination would irreparably damage their innate immune system and leave them vulnerable to infection and re-infection by Covid and a range of other deadly pathogens. That would result in a massive loss of children’s lives.

Dr. Geert Vanden Bossche is a world-class certified expert in microbiology and infectious diseases. He also has a Ph.D. in virology and a long-standing career in human vaccinology.
