

Michigan Secretary of State Guidelines Violate State Law, Judge Says

As midterms approach, poll challengers in Michigan are facing a different kind of challenge from their Secretary of State's office.

Earlier this year Jocelyn Benson and state Director of Elections Jonathan Brater updated guidelines for poll watchers and challengers that – according to a recent court ruling – violate Michigan election law.

Ann Howard is an attorney representing several poll challengers and candidates for public office who sued Benson and Brater.

She tells The New American about the case and what it means for the midterms, especially now that Benson is ignoring the court order to revise or rescind the guidelines while waiting for an appeal to play out.

Subscribe to the New American

Get exclusive digital access to the most informative, non-partisan truthful news source for patriotic Americans!

Discover a refreshing blend of time-honored values, principles and insightful perspectives within the pages of "The New American" magazine. Delve into a world where tradition is the foundation, and exploration knows no bounds.

From politics and finance to foreign affairs, environment, culture, and technology, we bring you an unparalleled array of topics that matter most.

Subscribe

What's Included?

24 Issues Per Year
Optional Print Edition
Digital Edition Access
Exclusive Subscriber Content
Audio provided for all articles
Unlimited access to past issues
Coming Soon! Ad FREE
60-Day money back guarantee!
Cancel anytime.