The reason so many powerful interests are working to demonize America, its history, and its Founding Fathers around the nation's 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence is simple yet brilliant. Basically, it's a sales tactic, explained leading historian and author William Federer of American Minute in this interview on Behind The Deep State with The New American magazine's Alex Newman.

Federer, one of the nation's top living historians, also described the intricate relationship between Christianity and U.S. history. In short, America is and always has been a Christian nation, no matter which way you break it down, and no matter how much those who hate God and the United States may dislike it. While the situation currently looks bleak, it is never too late for a nation—with God's help—to get back on the right path.
